BAYONNE CITY DISPATCH COMPANY

As was the case with many local posts, Bayonne City Dispatch Company was short-lived, functioning for approximately two months, from April to June 1883.

In 1883, the present Bayonne was composed of three small towns: Bayonne, Van Buskirk, and Saltersville. Four government post offices were located in the three towns: one in each, and another called Bergen Point Post Office. The delivery of mail from one town to another (say from Bayonne to Saltersville) was often done bysending it to New York and then back again to be delivered at the designated address. Therefore, it often took four or five days for a letter to be sent from one post office to the other -- a distance of less than a mile. You could often add a day or two onto this, since very few carriers were employed by the Post Office. At the Bergen Point Post Office, for instance, a Richard Denver was the only carrier.

Needless to say, local merchants were not exactly pleased with the situation, since most of their business circulars were sent through the mails. Local residents, in some cases, had to wait a week to hear a piece of news which occurred less than a mile away. Speed, even in these early days, was of utmost importance.

Roswald Edward Smith evidently saw a means for profit in this situation. In early April of 1883, he visited Boyd and Hussey (the Largest local post in the city of New York) for ideas on organizing a local post in Bayonne. The post was duly organized on April 15, 1883 under the name Bayonne City Dispatch Company. An announcement of the formation of the post was made in the "Bayonne Times" of April 5, 1883. Included in the advertisement is a table of postage rates for letters. This might be interesting to note and is listed below:

South of 28th Street.....1 cent
South of 38th Street.....2 cents
East of Avenue F.....3 cents
South of Division Street.....2 cents
North of Division Street.....3 cents

These prices were for the delivery of private mail for the local inhabitants of Bayonne. The concern also did a large business delivering mail matter fron societies, insurance companies. and large businesses. Special rates were offered to these firms, and this will be discussed further on. The advertisement also states that distribution of mail to foreign countries would be handled and this mail was to be addressed c/o Bayonne City Dispatch Company. It was also announced in thesame article that arrangements were being made with the New York and New Jersey Telegraph and Telephone Company as to the handling of messages, etc.

A company circular dated April 10, 1883 (reported to be 2000 printed) states that messengers would call at residences, business houses, etc. Such calls were to be made on regular customers three times a day. The main office was on 16th Street near Avenue D with most of the business of the post being done with the Bergen Point Post Office. Mail boxes were placed in the following hotels: La Tourette, Shore House, Stringhams, also in the City Hall, and in each of the four railroad stations in the city. From three to ten messengers were employed. It can easily be seen that Mr. Smith seemed to have laid the foundation for quite a profitable business.

Also on April 15, 1883 the stamps of the post were issued; electrotyped in sheets of ten with no varieties. Envelopes with a design similar to the stamp are reported to have been issued on May 15, 1883. Stamps were sold to large consumers at eighty cnets per hundred. Messengers for special delivery could also be obtained at twenty cents an hour. The handstamp of the post was a three-line purple cancel stating the name of the post and the date; also a large purple target cancel accompanied the handstamp. The envelopes were printed in purple on amber.

A report in the "Evening Journal" of June 12, 1883 says the Post Office Department stated that the Bayonne City Dispatch Company could operate as long as an official was not appointed by that Department. Evidently, this means that as long as a general postmaster for the city of Bayonne was not appointed, Bayonne City Dispatch could operate within the limits of the law. Whether this report is hearsay or from an official document is not known.

Meanwhile, in New York, postal authorities had once more raided Boyd and Hussey on May 4, 1883, but both companies, as usual, came through unscathed, although they both finally closed a few years later.

Bayonne City Dispatch, on the other hand, was not as seasoned a veteran of battles with postal authorities as Boyd and Hussey, and was closed some time in June 1883. Unfortunate for the people of Bayonne, since Bayonne City Dispatch offered much better service than the government Post Office.

Moens, a chronicler of stamps of the period, in his Le Timbre-Poste of 1889-90, states that he had seen one of the mail boxes and a company insignia in an antique shop in Bergen. Quite a find for some collector of locals to turn up today!

FIRST DAY OF ISSUE CANCELS IN NEW JERSEY

In a November, 1977 issue of FIRST DAYS, the official publication of the American First Day Cover Society, Curtis Patterson observed that there had been 82 philatelic exhibitions and 40 society conventions where one or more US stamps or postal stationery items had their first day of issue. This covered the period from March 20, 1923 to November, 1976. Obviously, the accelerated activity of the USPS (witness the first days at each of the last 3 APS conventions) during the past four years is not included.

Mr. Patterson presented a listing of all the locations, Scott numbers, and types of markings (handstamps, machine cancellations, etc.) that had been noticed It is interesting that the only location in New Jersey associated with this activity is Atlantic City, typically in conjunction with a SOJEX show. An extract of his listing follows.

Date	Event	Scott No.	Remarks
8-28-34	APS Convention	750	Event and city machines; event hand
8-15-41	AAMS Convention	C27	Event hand and machine
10-22-60	Aero Phil Conv.	C61	First day hand and machine; event mach.
10-22-70	SOJEX	C61	Event handstamp
4-13-73	SOJEX	1477	First day hand and machine; event handstamp; slogan machine

SEPAD, in Philadelphia, as well as INTERPHIL has been the site of numerous first day ceremonies. Its close proximity to southern New Jersey might allow some vicarious claim to a New Jersey interest. Similarly, the internationals and dealer shows (ASDA, INTERPEX) in New York may do the same for northern New Jersey. It is interesting, however, that no north Jersey location is listed.

We want to be able to make the Society Award available more often, but we usually wind up without reaching the minimum number of Entries. With this in mind the Society will be participating in several Philatelic Exhibitions in the northern part of the State during the coming months, and membership participation as Exhibitors is strongly urged, especcially at BEPEX being held in Elmwood Park (East Paterson) Feb 27 thru March 1st.

As the Entry Deadline is fast approaching, request a Prospectus promptly by writing to :

Mrs. Joseph Santeramo
P.O. Box 204
Ridgefield Park, New Jersey 07660

We note that Craig Matthewson recently won the Grand Award at MERPEX, an Annual South Jersey Show, which we are looking into as a venue for a southerly meeting of the Society, as our old standby SOJEX appears to have vanished !

Does anyone know of any other South Jersey Philatelic Exhibitions that the Society could become a major participant at ? Please let us know.

GARFIELD, BERGEN COUNTY, NJ

(A brief Postal History) by: Brad Arch

The Post Office was originally established August 7, 1882 with Nicholas G. Vreeland as the 1st Postmaster, and was discontinued as an independant office becoming a Station of Passaic on February 1, 1902 with Adam Buys as the Clerk-In-Charge, being located in the Whitehead Building on the corner of Passaic Street & Midland Avenue during this period. It's status was changed to an Independant Branch of Passaic on May 20, 1908 with Chester F. Allen as Superintendent. The Location was changed on December 2, 1922 to the First National Bank Building on Midland Avenue. While at this location it was reopened as an independant Post Office on March 1, 1928 with DeWilton Lee Anderson as Postmaster. On September 13, 1933 Joseph A. Aloia was appointed as the Postmaster, during whose term a contract was signed on January 8, 1935 to erect a new Post Office building, with February 1, 1936 being the opening day of the new post office building on the corner of Palisade & VanWinkle Aves. January 1, 1954 saw the appointment of Leo Mazza as Postmaster, and he is still the current Postmaster with the office still located on Palisade & VanWinkle corner.

Ritz Station was established November 1, 1946 in a storefront in the vicinity of Passaic Street & Midland Avenue in the same neighborhood as the original Garfield main post office in the south end of town.

Plauderville (Independant Post Office) was established May 28 1901 with Philip Fischer as the 1st and only Postmaster, as the office was discontinued as an independant and became Station #4 of Passaic on June 30, 1902, there being no further information available as to it's status.

Outwater Station was established June 16, 1955 in a storefront in the vicinity of Outwater Lane & River Road in the same neighborhood as the original Plauderville post office in the north end of town.

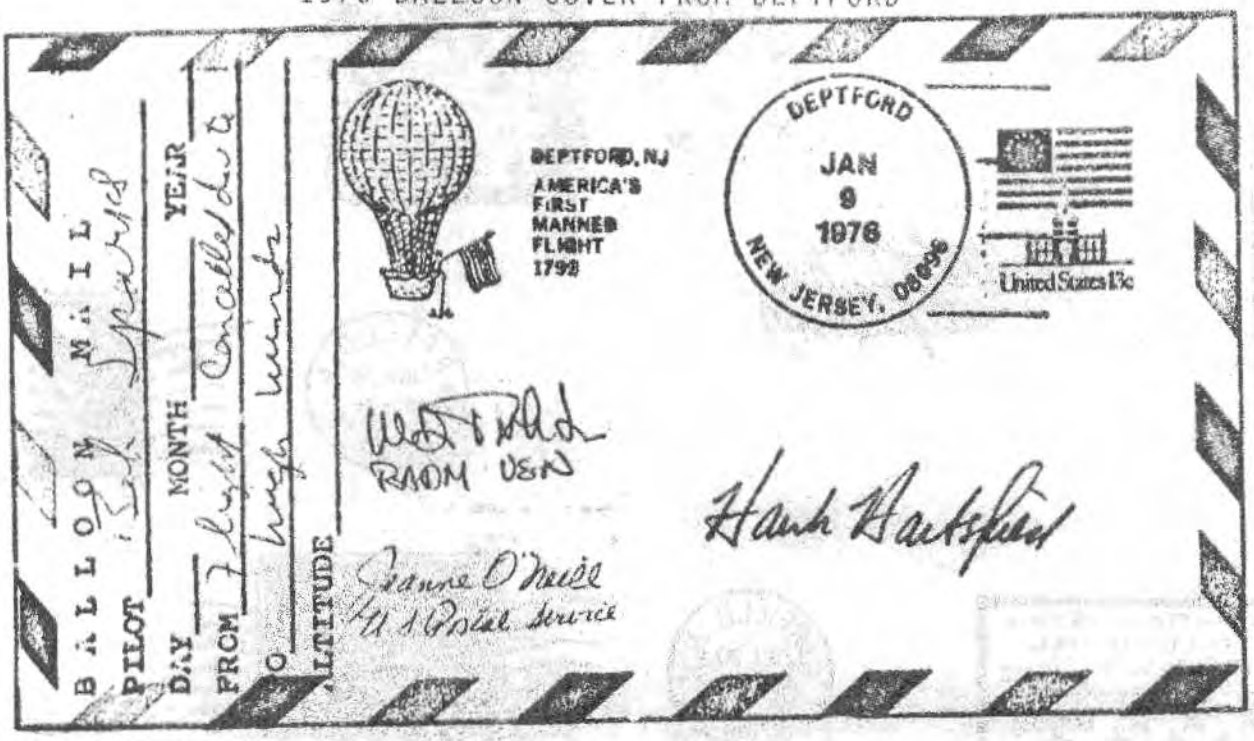
1976 BALLOON COVER FROM DEPTFORD



A special cancel was used by the USPS to honor the first flight of Jean Pierre Blanchard on January 9, 1793 by balloon from Philadelphia. The nine mile flight carried a letter from George Washington making Blanchard the first "airmail" carrier. This is one of 30 covers prepared to mark this anniversary. The 1976 version was cancelled due to high winds.
